POLICE STILL WITHOUT CLUE

Captive Believed Murdered by His Prisoner

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — Search for Patrolman James Griffin, kidnaped policeman, who is believed to have been murdered, was resumed early today by squads of policemen after an all day and all night hunt failed to bring any trace of the officer, his captor or the automobile in which the patrolman or his prisoner was found for a police station yesterday morning.

By all night search by police of the city, gullies and roads in the vicinity where Griffin and his prisoner were last seen failed to reveal the policeman's body. The search was continued early today with hundreds of citizens, farmers, boys and school children joining the police in the hunt.

Police efforts today were directed largely toward locating everybody who might have seen the patrolman after he started with his prisoner at the police station.

ADDITIONAL SEARCH — This and a country-wide effort started yesterday, will be made to locate John L. Whitfield, with whom the patrolman was last seen.

Police last night sent broadcast description of Whitfield and his automobile he used. They are seeking him as the man who drove away with Patrolman Griffin.

Only three persons reported having seen the automobile after Griffin disappeared. Of these only one, George A. Dixon, a machinist, saw Griffin in the car. The other two

COLUMBUS — Ohio chiropractors who have been opposing the regulations of the state medical board are beginning to give up the struggle, according to medical men who have been watching the contest.

This belief is based upon the 25 applications which have been made to the medical board to take chiropractic examinations in June. This is the largest number since the passage of the examination law several years ago.

Of the applicants, several are chiropractors who have been prosecuted for their failure to come under the regulations.

NEW RAY MAY END AIR WRECKS

Invention is Announced by Experimenter at Pasadena

SHUTS OFF GRAVITY PULL

Claims Plane Built of Steel Will Float in Sky

PASADENA, Calif. — (Associated Press) — Aviation of the future may be based on the use of a newly discovered ray which "shuts off" the pull of gravity, it is a theory propounded by Edgar L. Hollingshead, local inventor and experimenter in the field of electricity, is substantiated in practice.

Hollingshead calls the new ray, which he said he discovered after twenty years of experimentation, the odic ray.

Its most spectacular property, he says, is the power to increase atomic speed in matter upon which it is focused. When the speed of the whirling atoms reaches a certain point, he explains, the pull of gravity has no effect on them.

When the use of the odic ray has been perfected, Hollingshead predicts any solid object on which it may be focused will float in air. Equipped with the proper apparatus, for generating this powerful ray, he asserts, the airship of the future could be built of steel and yet rise with the ease of a gas filled dirigible.

Heat also accelerates the speed of the whirling atoms composing any substance, Hollingshead points out, but heat freely applied eventually transforms the solid into a gas. The odic ray, on the other hand, can increase the atomic speed tremendously without causing the disintegration of the solid, he says.

YEGGS IN STORE, POSTOFFICE

Fail to Open Safes at Van Wert — Auto Stolen

Robbers broke into the postoffice and a store and after failing to open safes in each place, got away with a 1921 sedan at Van Wert early Saturday morning.

Men believed to be the robbers, were reported leaving the town about 2:30 a. m., coming toward Lima.

A postoffice inspector from Lima went to Van Wert Saturday to investigate the postoffice robbery. A number of postage stamps were reported taken but the safe was not opened according to early reports.

Entrance to this building as well as to the William Hertle-cream station, was gained by breaking glass in rear windows. The safes in both places were badly damaged.

The automobile stolen belonged to Abraham Mollenkopf, of Van Wert.

Roundup of Students Ordered by State's Attorney

UNIVERSITY RECORDS SEIZED

Names of Youths Leaving After Hazing Secured

CHICAGO — (United Press) — Roundup of 41 students who left Northwestern University, following the 1921 class rush in which Leighton Mount was last seen, was started today by deputies working under orders of Robert Crowe, state's attorney.

Enrollment records of the university were seized by Crowe, revealing names of the youths who left the institution following Mount's disappearance.

John Dill Scott, president of the University, denied any of the students were discharged because of the Mount affair. Mount's body was recently found under a pile reaching into Lake Michigan, a short distance from the university.

GIRL TO BE QUIZZED

Crowe asked authorities to question Katherine Hotchkiss regarding a letter to J. Allen Mills, president of the Freshman class in 1921, referring to his "terrible experience," advising him to consult spiritual advisers and discouraging an apparent intention of suicide.

Mills was asked regarding the letter from the Hotchkiss girl when questioned in Akron, Ohio, but he refused to answer many queries.

The transcript of his examination had not arrived here when he was taken before the grand jury and it is understood that point was not brought up before the investigating body. However, he may be recalled.

140 ARE VICTIMS OF POISON PEN

80 Testify Before Grand Jury Probing Obscene Letters

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — The grand jury which has indicted George Maxwell, vice president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, for sending obscene missives thru the mails, has evidence against eight other prominent members of a "poison pen clique" which is alleged to have victimized 140 wealthy society people here, in Philadelphia, Buffalo, Pittsburgh and other cities, District Attorney Banton disclosed today.

Eighty of the alleged victims already have testified before the grand jury, which is still in session. Banton revealed that their statements had led to the uncovering of 147 poison pen letters and to the discovery that nine well known families had been broken up, a man and a woman had died shortly after receiving vicious missives, and another woman had gone insane.

MOSCOW DEFIANT OF LONDON

Will Not be Dictated to, Foreign Minister Asserts

CANNOT ACCEPT ULTIMATUM

Factories Close to Join Demonstration Against England

MOSCOW — (Associated Press) — All Moscow's factories and government institutions were closed this morning to permit the employees to take part in a great demonstration against the British note.

Surging crowds early began to fill the streets of the city.

The intent of the demonstration seemed to be peaceful but it appeared evident they meant to make the demonstration an impressive one.

MOSCOW — (Associated Press) — Deputy Foreign Minister Ganetsky's declaration to the Moscow council of trades unions that altho Russia is willing to confer with Great Britain over the differences between the two countries, she "cannot accept such an ultimatum as was set forth by Lord Curzon, is taken here as an indication of the trend of official opinion toward the British note.

Ganetsky told the council that the Soviet government desired no break with Britain. "We say to England," he asserted, "let us talk the matter over, but do not dictate."

THREATEN ARMED FORCE

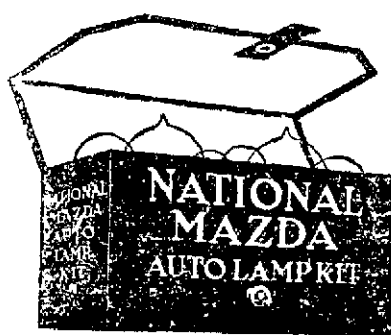

Ganetsky's statement that "Russia is against those who want to enslave her," found a reflection in the resolution passed by the council announcing that Russia was ready if necessary to respond with armed force to those who try to infringe upon her independence.

The Soviet reply, it is generally expected, will go forward to London after Foreign Minister Tchitcherine's address to the special session of the Moscow Soviet, which has been summoned for today.

EIGHT STUDENTS ARRESTED AT WILD PARTY

KENYON COLLEGE DANCE RAIDED

Seven Plead Guilty of Having Intoxicating Liquors

EACH FINED $100 AND CAST

Several Young Women Taken But Are Released

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press.)—State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald announced today that four inspectors from his office last night raided the annual "Spring Prom" at Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, and arrested eight students for having liquor in their possession. Considerable evidence was reported seized.

Seven of the students this morning pleaded guilty of having intoxicating liquor in their possession when arraigned in mayor's court and each was fined $100 and costs. McDonald said it was that one of the students was "too drunk to enter a plea."

INTERFERENCE ATTEMPTED
The chief of the state prohibition forces declared today that President Pierce and several of the Kenyon College professors attempted to interfere with the work of the inspectors who made the raid, and that President Pierce was taken to police headquarters with the arrested students, but was not placed under arrest.

In a statement issued today at Gambier, President Pierce stated that the faculty will take immediate steps to prohibit liquor in connection with any school activity at the college. He indicated that some expulsions are expected to follow last night's raid.

The raid last night was conducted in one of the college buildings where the dance was being held.

The raid was made in the midst of the dance which is one of the big social affairs of the college.

According to attaches of the state prohibition department, the effort was at its height when the lights suddenly failed and the hall was in darkness. The orchestra stopped playing but there was no panic.

"Merely a little trouble with the power line," a deep voice boomed.

Then the lights came on again and the agents made their appearance, revealing their identities.

A rush for the doors took place according to participants in the raid, but some of the men were apprehended, it was said, and several young women were taken into custody but immediately released.

TERROR STRIKES TED THE MASCOT

Lightning flashes and rolling thunder struck fear to the heart of the weather mascot early Saturday. He awoke to find that Jupiter Pluvius was ruling the roost and that torrential rains were deluging the earth, while Ottawa river was busy getting swelled up on itself.

There was no chance for Ted Sol during the day, as the rain king pushed a cloud over the face of the orb of day. The rainfall was persistent throughout the entire morning, with temperatures falling and heavy apparel continuing a necessity.

The day's forecast provides for more showers Saturday afternoon and probably tonight. Cooler tonight. Sunday generally fair; cooler in south portion.

The rain may not have had anything to do with it, but a large sea gull alighted on the roof of the Citizens' building in Main-st. Saturday morning, probably resting after a long flight from a lake somewhere.

It is seldom gulls are seen in Lima. In fact, Saturday's feathered visitor is the first this chronicler ever heard of here.

Eighteen persons were bequeathed legacies ranging from $1,000 up. Mrs. Russell will receive the bulk of the estate. Her share may exceed two and one-half millions. The bequests were confined to blood relatives of the decedent and his wife.

Appraisers of the estate appointed by the court are Harry O. Bentley, attorney; Howard P. Dean, banker; and G. W. King, 1062 W. Main-st.

PRIVILEGE ABUSED; CITY BANS RESERVOIR FISHING

Fishing in city reservoirs was prohibited Saturday following complaints that small fish less than three inches in length were being taken from Lost Creek reservoir.

Several baskets full were taken away last Sunday, according to reports reaching the city manager's office.

Letter from the city manager Saturday instructed the chief of police to post a patrolman at the reservoirs to prevent any fishing.

City regulations prohibit fishing in the reservoirs, but the practice was permitted with the understanding that when the privilege was abused it would be suspended.

The city is securing a supply of young fish from the federal bureau of fisheries with which to stock the reservoirs.

Spirit of Happiness Prevails at Hawaiian Leper Colony

PEACE WALKS WITH TRAGEDY

Visitors Entertained by Band and Singing Clubs

KALAPAPA, Island of Molokai, T. H.—(Associated Press.)—A spirit of happiness, almost unaccountable, and a peace that passes the bounds of human understanding, walk with tragedy thru the isolated, cliff-guarded, surf-fringed strip of shore that has given this portion of the Hawaiian archipelago the name of "The lonely leper island of Molokai."

The Associated Press correspondent found when he accompanied the territorial legislature on a trip to the settlement.

A visitor to the colony, forewarned of the horror it holds, finds all of that horror and more that cannot be discussed. But he finds also that the heavy fog of doom which once enveloped the tragic narrow stretch between the sea and the towering cliffs, has been dissipated by a ray of light arising from the favorable results that have attended the use of the Dean chainmills.

At the time of the visit, the chainmills, of which the territory has one, were in the process of being replaced by a new and improved model. The new model, which has been in use for some time, has been found to be more efficient and more economical than the old model.

RAIL COMPANY IS SUED FOR $30,000

Ottawa Man Asks Damages of B. & O. as Accident Echo

The B. & O. Railroad Co. is made defendant in a suit for $30,000 filed Friday in the court of common pleas as executor by Michael H. Innis, Duluth auto dealer, who alleges he suffered permanent injuries because of the company's negligence.

Innis was injured when he crashed into a train while proceeding on Locust-st in Ottawa after midnight on March 26.

He states in his petition that the locomotive was detached from the string of cars and was permitted to block the crossing more than the five-minute period allowed by law.

He also avers that the cut of cars was not discernible in the darkness, that there was no warning given by sounding bell or whistle, nor by display of flags, lights or signs.

The accident occurred at 12:40 a. m., the petition says. Innis declares his auto, valued at $2,615, was totally wrecked and that he suffered seven fractured ribs, straining of the arms and hands, wrenched ligaments and muscles and permanent injury to his back. Medical treatment has cost him $292 and impossibility of working during the last eight weeks has cut him off from $4,000 in commissions from auto sales, he says.

He will never again be his former self, Innis asserts in outlining the extent of his injuries.

Innis' suit is the second filed in Putnam-co common pleas court within a week. A week ago Charles Cramer, Bryan, filed suit for $20,000 against the Nickel Plate Railroad company, alleging injuries due to the defendant company's negligence at Leipsie.

Heirs of the late Ferdinand Laue, of Delphos, will inherit $11,237.72 according to the inventory of his estate filed by Arthur F. Lindemann, attorney of Delphos, administrator in probate court Saturday.

The inventory shows personal property of the value of $1,841.72, real estate $9,396.00.

Appraisers of the estate are William Lohmkuhl, W. J. Steidle and Henry Meenter, all of Delphos.

Appraisal of the estate of W. H. C. Monroe, of Delphos, filed by Mrs. Edna L. Monroe, administratrix, shows a property valuation of $4,160. The appraisers are Abner Brenneman, Orlo Enslin and A. F. Kitchard.

Both of the reports were accepted by the court and the appraisers discharged.

ELIDA MAN FILES DIVORCE SUIT ANSWER
An amended petition was filed Saturday by Jesse E. John, Elida, plaintiff in an action for divorce against Elida M. John, defendant.

The petition recited that she failed to perform household duties and had left him.

John asserts that he gave his wife $60 to purchase clothing in Lima. She took the money, went away, and is still absent, he declares.

HARDING TO TALK AS PRESIDENT
Will Not Discuss Politics on His Western Trip

WASHINGTON—(United Press.)—What do you want to know about your government?

Ask President Harding this summer when he comes through your town—if he does.

The President is going out prepared to answer questions. While he won't have time to answer all that may be asked, he wants to tell the people what they want to know.

He is not inviting hecklers to put him thru a political catamount, for from his point of view, his western tour is not to be political.

Mr. Harding recently offered to give his salary with anyone who would guarantee a minimum of speeches on the trip. What he would rather do than make speeches himself is to listen to speeches from the men and women of the towns and cities he will stop in. He would like to get their point of view on the international court, rather than try to impress his ideas on those subjects.

So determined is Mr. Harding to open.

TWO SUITS BEGUN TO FORECLOSE MORTGAGES

Suits for foreclosure on two mortgages were filed Friday by the Glandorf Building and Loan Co. in Putnam-co common pleas court.

Earl Dull and Stacy Dull are defendants in the first, the company alleging a mortgage on real estate in Miller City was delivered to secure payment on a promissory note for $513.16 dated May 21, 1917 and containing no endorsements.

In the second the company seeks to foreclose on a mortgage alleged to have been executed by D. S. Burkholder and wife to secure a payment on a note for $1,001.34. Property in Pandora was mortgaged.

Matt Konst and Enos Burkholder are named in the first and second cases respectively as claiming liens on property of the defendants. It is asked that they set up their claims.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL
Miss Gertrude Odenweller has been removed to her home in Delphos from St. Rita's hospital, Lima, where she underwent surgery, for relief from appendicitis.

That nobody shall impose to him the purpose of enhancing his own political fortunes on his trip that he intends to tell his audiences wherever he goes that if they expect to hear politics discussed they will be disappointed. He will tell them he is talking to them as their President, with two years more to work for them, and that what he is talking about is that two years of work and not the political events that will intervene.

The politicians, who cannot forget politics even if Mr. Harding can, are forever trying these days to get the President to express his preference for a Republican convention city for 1924.

Cleveland, in the Harding home state, wants one or both conventions, and the President has been pressed to say he favors Cleveland.

Some great city started the story that Mr. Harding would oppose Cleveland because it was in Ohio and his selection would look like Republican favoritism to Ohio.

There is active propaganda in favor of New York City by some who say that what a national convention is for is publicity, and that New York is the best place to get it.

Star other cities reply that getting publicity in New York is not getting it out where the voters grow thick and independent. Washington, D. C., where Mr. Harding now lives, also is being boomed, but the criticism is heard of that, that it would look bad to have the convention "under the thumb" of the President.

All of which is a good deal like "stove league" baseball—something to talk about until the season really opens.

So determined is Mr. Harding to open.

Hoarded or hidden money is a worry and frequently a source of danger, especially if carried on your person.

Hidden wealth does no good. It gives no employment to carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers or mechanics. It builds no homes.

But if left here on deposit, your money not only earns interest and is safe, but you put it to work immediately building homes.

ARRESTS EXCEED 100 WEEKLY

Figures Given in Pennsylvania Campaign on Bootleggers

MUCH LIQUOR CONFISCATED

Results of New Move to Make State Bone Dry

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(United Press.)—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania is satisfied with the progress he is making to dry up his state.

Four months ago, on taking office, Pinchot announced he will enforce the prohibition laws so rigidly that bootlegging and general violation of the dry act would be made very hard and too expensive for the bootleggers, likewise very hard.

Many hundreds of arrests have been made, and vast quantities of liquor confiscated, under his regime.

Arrests and confiscations will increase until the violators are driven out of the state or forced to obey the law, Pinchot stated.

If Pennsylvania is not yet quite dry it is at least a great deal drier than it was.

Pinchot's first move was to commandeer the services of the State Police, a semi-military body of nearly four hundred mounted troopers famous for their discipline and efficiency. As nominal commander of these troopers Governor Pinchot detailed almost every available man to the duty of breaking up moon shining and bootlegging.

No single week has passed since the initiation of this campaign that has not shown a record of over a hundred arrests and the seizure of enormous quantities of illicit liquor.

ENACTED NEW LAW
The starting the drive under existing laws Pinchot drafted a state enforcement act somewhat more drastic than the Volstead Act, and submitted this to the Legislature.

The Legislature was disposed to balk but with the prestige of a new Governor with considerable patronage to bestow Pinchot insisted and the general assembly passed the act.

BANDITS MAY FREE CAPTIVES SUNDAY

Hopes Raised as to Hostages Held in China

EACH FINED $100 AND COST American Goes to Negotiate With Abductors

TIEN TSIN — (United Press) — J. A. Henry, American from San Francisco, went back this afternoon to the credit camp on the Shantung coast where he was released Friday, to negotiate for the foreign captives held and terms on which the government proposes to release them with the brigands.

Henry, permitted to leave the neighborhood to which the bandits withdrew after the wrecking of the Shanghai express Sunday morning, reported that the captives are in good health.

HOPE HELD OUT

High hopes are held out that he will be able to negotiate successfully for release of all the foreigners held Sunday at the latest.

China's military governors, considering an ultimatum from the powers that will exact accumulative indemnities for each day the prisoners are held, announce they are prepared to pay whatever ransom the bandits demand. At first the latter asked a million dollars, but after finding their captives in small groups or singly, they have considerably reduced their demands. It is not known here what amount is placed on the heads of the eight or ten foreign prisoners.

BOYS ARE RELEASED

TIEN TSIN — (Associated Press) — Payment of ransom, or compliance with whatever other terms the Chinese train bandits demand for the return of their foreign captives seems today more than ever the only feasible move, in view of the letter urging such a course received here from Major Roland Finger, one of the two American army officers taken to the outlaws' stronghold with the other passengers of the Shanghai-Peking express train after it was derailed near Szechow last Sunday.

TWO WOMEN HELD

The Finger and Allen boys report of two women still in the hands of the outlaws. They were unable to identify the women, but, from their descriptions, it is believed that one is Senora Manuel Anreia Verea, wife of a prominent Mexican, who also is held. Verea was reported to have refused to be taken to the outlaws' camp, and a number of other foreign women. There is no surprise here in the identity of the other woman mentioned by the boys. They added that both of the foreign women were at the bandits' headquarters and were in Chinese dress.

OIL EMULSION FOUND GOOD SPRAY FOR SCALE

Oil emulsion, a spray for scale, is found to be as effective as the use of lime as a scale inhibitor. Information received at the Ohio County Agent H. J. Ridge.

The oil emulsion spray is not only cheaper than lime solution, but may be applied later without stopping the leaves and destroying the buds, as does a delayed application of lime sulphur. This consideration is of great advantage to the farmer, as scale is one of the worst insect enemies of fruit growers.

Authorities at the university say that a two per cent emulsion results in a two per cent killing of scale insects experimentally drenched.

CELEBRATE MOTHER'S DAY IN SPIRIT, SAYS FOUNDER

Observe Mother's Day, in spirit, not in mere ostentation. This is the plea made by the Mother's Day International Association as the occasion is observed Saturday.

Charges of profiteering by florists seeking to capitalize Mother's Day, have been met with a response that doing something for mother's joy, not mere flower wearing, is the object. The association is opposed to paying outrageous prices for white carnations, according to its president, Anna Jarvis, founder of Mother's Day.

"There is only one thing important this day of days," says Miss Jarvis. "That is to remember mother."

"Go home and see her if you are away in another town. Take her some joy. If you can't do that, write her a special delivery letter or telegram to reach her Mother's Day."

"That is what Mother's Day means—remembrance of mother." Meanwhile, observance has spread to all parts of Europe and to Japan, China, Africa and Palestine.

LIMA WOMAN DIES IN AUTO WRECK

Mrs. Ira McPherson Victim of Accident Near Perrysburg

Funeral services for Mrs. Blanche Miller McPherson, 35, wife of Dr. Ira B. McPherson, manager of the Garfield Motor Truck Co., who was killed late Friday in an automobile accident near Perrysburg, will be held in Lima. Definite time for the obsequies has not been set.

Mrs. McPherson was killed when a new touring car, driven by her husband, skidded on an asphalt pavement and overturned into a ditch. She was pinned beneath the car and died almost instantly.

According to McPherson, he tried to stop the car to keep from hitting an automobile which had been halted on the road, causing his car to skid. He believes Mrs. McPherson, who was riding in the rear seat, tried to get out of the automobile and for this reason was in a more dangerous position than himself. He suffered only minor bruises.

Occupants of other automobiles removed the two from beneath the car and the body of Mrs. McPherson was brought to Lima.

They were on their way to Toledo when the accident happened.

Besides the husband, Mrs. McPherson is survived by one son, Clarence, 16, a student at Columbia Military College, in Tennessee; two step-sisters, Emma and Catherine Heisel, St. Marys; her mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Heisel, St. Marys.

Trial of a suit brought by Mrs. Mary M. Edmons, 919 N. Main-st., to set aside the will of her father, the late Dr. John J. Murphy, which has been in progress in common pleas court for a week past, was halted Friday night.

The hearing will be resumed Monday morning, and may consume another week, attorneys state. Eighteen of the witnesses summoned by plaintiffs have told their stories. More than half of the 57 witnesses for Mabel Dunn Murphy, defendant, have been on the stand.

The plaintiff is seeking to set aside the will of Dr. Murphy, which named his wife, Dr. Mabel Dunn Murphy, as his sole beneficiary. The will was executed immediately prior to the marriage of the two in 1914.

Daughters of the physician seek to show he was mentally unbalanced when he signed the document.

AUTOISTS WARNED ABOUT PARKING AT THEATRES

Vehicles must not be parked in the safety zones in front of theatres during show hours, according to an announcement Saturday by Police Captain Strick.

There has been some misunderstanding about this, he said. Police will tag all automobiles found in the safety zones in front of moving picture houses after 11 a. m. and in front of the Faurot and Orpheum theatres from 1 p. m. on.

A state law establishes the theatre safety zone, he said.

SHORT WHEAT CROP IS FORECAST FOR OHIO

COLUMBUS—Ohio will suffer a short crop of winter wheat, C. J. West, state-federal statistician, said today in predicting that 1934-35 year's outlook is only for about 20,000,000 bushels and that further unfavorable weather conditions may even reduce this amount.

Winter killing caused the abandonment of thirteen per cent of the state acreage, West said, and even now, many fields not abandoned are in poor condition. He further said that Ohio's crop has suffered more than the crop of the country at large, the condition of the present being ten points below the national average.

HOW OLD? IS OLD? 50 OR 100?

Much Depends, Views of Quintet of Men Show

ONE, 97. STILL IN HARNESS

Others Who Shade 80 Enjoy Their Work

BY MAURICE HENLE

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(Special)— How old must a man be before he is really old? Thousands rise to answer. "There is no age too advanced for active work."

But among the outstanding ones who voice the cry is a quintet of splendid examples.

The youngest, in the opinion of the oldest, is a mere boy—51 years. The oldest, in the opinion of the youngest, is not a bit too old—97 years.

Here are the five:

John R. Booth, 97, owner and active operator of big lumber, pulp and paper mills in Canada.

Judge William Louis Kelly, 85, who only a few days ago retired from active bench work at St. Paul, Minn.

Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, 79, who recently ended a 34-year quest, and obtained immensely valuable oil and mineral concessions in the Near East.

Colonel C. C. Culver, 51, oldest flying officer in the United States air service.

Consider the last first.

At what age does a man begin to lose his nerve as a flier?

"It all depends on the man himself, I guess," says Colonel Culver, who is still an active army pilot.

"But as to the age a man begins to slip—well, I'm only 51, so you'll have to ask someone older."

At 79, Admiral Chester didn't feel old to consummate a 34-year-old dream, and complete the deal which gave him concessions said to be worth a billion in the Near East.

As commander of the good ship Kentucky, in 1889, Chester first made the acquaintance of Turkey and the Turks.

It is this 79-year-old U. S. admiral's stroke of business genius that is to meet the combined resistance of France and England at the next Lausanne conference. And Chester, nearly 80, will defend his concessions himself.

Of our next hero, Hon. Grove L. Johnson, now 82, one may best illustrate his opinion on the subject of age by quoting him.

He was talking with friends recently when someone recalled that Dr. David Starr Jordan once remarked "a man doesn't begin to live until 70."

"What does Dave know about it?" demanded Johnson, "why, he's only a mere kid!"

In addition to his other duties, Johnson finds time to write for newspapers, is active in church work and conducts affairs of the Sacramento Bar Association. He has long been a factor in California politics.

And, oh yes, he is the father of Senator Hiram Johnson.

Turning to Judge William Louis Kelly, 85, who just celebrated two anniversaries on the same day at St. Paul—

We find this period marked the end of the jurist's 26 years of service as judge of the Ramsey County District Court of Minnesota, and the 53th anniversary of his marriage.

He's not only the oldest judge in years but in point of service, too. Eleven of the 22 judges who served with him, now are dead.

Kelly served with Sherman in the Civil War.

But he says he's still too young to learn to smoke!

The oldest of the quintet is John R. Booth, 97. Should he live three more years, he will round out an even century.

A good many men have reached the same age, but few have been inspired with a desire to keep in the harness in the eventide of life.

There is little of the figure popularly associated with age about Booth.

Owner of 5000 square miles of timber land, every day finds him on the job, actively directing his thousands of employees.

In 1921, he formed the "John R. Booth, Limited," capitalized at $10,000,000, and having as directors his sons and daughters. But he still remains as active head.

"I have never secured an acre of timber from any government, except in open competition, and as the highest bidder," he says.

And age?

"What is 'that'?" he asks.

FLEEING PRISONER EVADES CAPTURE

Alleged 'Legger Escapes from Officers in Putnam-co

Law enforcement machinery of northwestern Ohio Saturday was turned to the task of recapturing Joseph Talboon, 33, of Van Wert-co, alleged liquor law violator, who escaped from federal officers Friday night by jumping from a window of an Ohio Electric Railway car when it was stopped at Columbus Grove.

Handcuffs on Talboon's wrists did not deter him from staging a getaway.

He was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long here Friday evening and, unable to furnish $2,000 bond, was ordered held for trial in the Lucas county jail at Toledo.

Deputy U. S. Marshall Flick and a prohibition enforcement agent started with the prisoner to Toledo. As the car neared Columbus Grove Talboon asked permission to go to the lavatory. Flick stationed himself outside the door. After the car had stopped in Columbus Grove and passed on, Flick knocked at the door and there was no answer. He forced the door and found the window broken and iron bars on the outside pushed out of the way.

The two officers went on to Telpice where they caught a south-bound car and returned to Columbus Grove, but there was no sign of the escaped prisoner.

The man sold a gallon of whiskey to a party of four men, evidence introduced at his hearing showed. One of these men was Oscar Hooks, 20, of Rockford, who was killed three hours later in an automobile accident on the outskirts of Van Wert.

He was walking along the roadway in Van Wert when an automobile struck him. He died later. Carl Crabtree, driver of the car which struck Hooks, said he did not stop because he thought the man in the road had planned to hold him up. Crabtree was exonerated of any responsibility.

TWO WIVES WIN DECREES OF DIVORCE, SATURDAY

When police arrested Sam Howard, 209 W. Pennsylvania-av., at the Morris hotel charged with being in company with a woman not his wife some months ago, the groundwork was laid for a divorce granted Mrs. Lela Howard in common pleas court Saturday.

Howard is an ice-man, the wife told Judge Fred C. Becker and he played the part of a back door "shick" along his route, she asserted. His earnings average $35 a week when business is good.

Mrs. Howard learned of his conduct when she read in the papers that he had been fined in criminal court for disorderly conduct in the hotel, she said.

The court awarded the wife custody of a child of two years belonging to the couple and directed that Howard pay $500 alimony and $4 a week additional toward support of the baby.

Mrs. Alton Clark was restored to the use of her former name, Alton Simmons, when she testified that James Clark, laborer, left her six months ago. The two had been married about one year.

Clark refused to work, his wife said, and spent his time and risked for money in card games and playing Kelly pool.

Now We Know Why People Have Sore Feet

All in the Joints says Maine Doctor

What if you were told that the cause of sore feet was not the shoes you wore, but the condition of your joints? This is the theory of a Maine doctor, who says that people who have sore feet are suffering from a condition of the joints which is known as rheumatism.

Dr. J. H. Smith, of Bangor, Me., says that the cause of sore feet is not the shoes you wear, but the condition of your joints. He says that people who have sore feet are suffering from a condition of the joints which is known as rheumatism.

THE YEAR 3000

DID you ever find an old arrowhead or other Indian relic in the woods or in a farm field turned up by the plow? No childhood is complete without this thrill.

In the accompanying pen-picture, Artist Satterfield shows a boy finding an arrowhead. Imagination—which is strongly developed in all children and which virtually disappears in the maturity of most people—reconstructs the past for the arrowhead finder. He pictures the plowed field when it was a dense Emerson says that "God once in a hundred years or so creates a great man, and then breaks that man." David was one of God's great men. He recognized that his eminence was due to the grace of Jehovah, whose gentleness the poet-king declared "hath made him great." Unlike the other great historical figures that have been recognized as the master mind, of his age, David has ranked in many fields of endeavor. Israel found in him the one personality whose qualities, the incarnation of her spirit, the type of her destiny.

No more thrilling narrative has ever been penned than the Scripture story of his life from shepherd boy to sovereign. It is crowded in the sixty-one chapters, which is the largest space given to any Old Testament hero, with one sensation after another. His whole career was marked with events that are stranger and more stirring than those usually presented on the stage, pictured in the movies or found in the thrilling fiction of the day.

We first hear of him as a shepherd who was not considered worthy of a place at the feast that his father made when he was surprised by the visit of the aged prophet, Samuel to his home. No one of his day would have expected the courageous shepherd boy of becoming great, but God had selected the one whom others would have rejected to succeed Saul, who had failed to make good as a king. It is evident that the Lord knew what David could do, for while others have surpassed David in some realms, no other person has touched so many sides of life successfully and made the record of mastery in every field like the son of Jesse. He was a man after God's own heart. In spite of his sins, awful blunders, and moral falls that marred his life.

DAYS OF PREPARATION

God has his own method of preparing men for His service. His way of fitting men for their life work differs radically from that of men. He commenced the education of the shepherd boy in the field where his grandfather, had gleaned. David watched over his father's flocks. It was the same sloping hillside where centuries later the angels announced to other shepherds the glad tidings of the birth of one in the Davidic line, who has brought life and immortality to men, that God started his training of the boy. He planned to raise him upon the nation's throne in place of Saul, whose courageous and strategic leadership had unified the disorganized, disaffected and demoralized tribes into a united nation that had won its place among the nations. Saul, through his disloyalty and unfaithfulness to God, lacked the power to consolidate the gains he had won for the nation.

In the open fields during the silent night, the young shepherd came to know God, whose reality and presence had become real to him in many conflicts that he fought with the wild beasts and prowling enemies who tried to capture some of his flock. The heavens spoke to his poetic soul of the glory of God and the life in the universe testified to his divine skill. He learned to play upon his musical instruments by listening to the music of the birds and the melody of the feathered chorus, who through out the day proclaimed God's greatness and glory.

We must not overlook upon Mother's Day the influence of David's mother in forming under God his character. When the young shepherd returned to the palace from watching his father's flocks, she comforted him by her loving ministry, that had saved some choice morsel for the absent boy and encouraged him to develop his musical talent by her constructive criticism of the songs he chanted to her listening ear. It was through her inspiration that aroused his ambitions to produce poetry that would make his name immortal. No other members of the family appears to have sympathized much with his desires to become anything else than a shepherd.

The outdoor life filled him with physical strength, developed his accuracy of observation, taught him the lessons of prudence, promptness, and of God's protecting care at all times. It was probably due to his own overactive spirit that he was summoned to the palace of the king to quiet Saul's troubled nerves, through his musical skill just as Parnassus was summoned to minister with his voice to Philip V of Spain. Quietness of the mind, perturbation by the influence of music has been recognized in all ages. Saul's trouble was spiritual not physical. Music may help cure a mental disease and prepare the soul for the reception of God's spirit of pardon, peace and power.

A David suffered, as all successful physicians have who specialize in mental disease. When he defeated the giant champion of the Philistines who for forty days had defied Saul and his army through his trust in God and use of smooth pebbles in his sling, Saul did not recognize in the hero of that unique contest the musician, whom he had appointed his armor bearer. One of the physicians whose professional skill had restored a prominent officer of the World War to health met him some time later and he failed to recall him or the service he had rendered. David put his trust in the Lord and won the battle that resulted in his becoming a member of the king's family, but not until he had won his bride through a field of blood that Saul had expected would result in his death.

It was shortly after the battle with Goliath, which we have studied over since our childhood, that David revealed his genius for friendship. He formed with Jonathan a league of friendship, which for sincerity, constancy, and romantic pathos is unrivaled in the annals of history, whether sacred or profane. When the frenzied king turned against his loyal servant and sought David's life out of jealousy, Jonathan proved his friendship as David did later. When he was an exile and leader of a band of men who had also been driven into exile and compelled to take up arms in the ranks of the nation's enemies, David remained loyal to Saul, refusing to take his life when his enemy's life was in his grasp, because the king was the Lord's anointed. David's victory over Saul was greater than his triumph over Goliath. He conquered him through love. When death came to Saul and his sons, it filled David's heart with grief that has been expressed in the psalms, that are an autobiography of the poet-king's life, with its sorrows, sin and sorrow. He promptly punished the one who confessed he had slain Saul, the Lord's anointed.

SUCCESS, SIN, SORROW

The fugitive, outcast and exile, was chosen by Judah as king. It was long seven years filled with civil war, when thru treachery on the part of one, who had supported the house of Saul, David came to be the nation's ruler. He recognized, as Saul had not done, that the hope of the nation depended upon his relation to Jehovah. He captured Jerusalem and prepared to make it not only the capital but the religious center of the nation's life. While in the midst of his triumph when he showed his love for Jonathan by treating as a prince, the lame son of his bosom friend, but it was in the days of his success that he failed to live up to the ideals that ought to have dominated his life.

While in all probability he was "a man after God's own heart," because he recognized the God-given mission of Israel, he showed that he loved Jehovah more than to do his will by his repentance over every sin he committed. God loves a sinner and extends to every repentant one His offer of forgiveness. Altho the sins of David were detestable to the Lord, who could not look with favor upon the two foulest sins man ever committed, yet we would not have had that penitent's psalm, the Fifty-first, if he had not failed. While he found forgiveness, yet David never got away from being afflicted by his sins, that have been told with "deep pathos, ethical passion, and amazing frankness." The God, who gave David salvation, offers the same precious gift of grace to all men who will repent and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

David reaped what he sowed. He had humiliated a woman and his own daughter was humiliated. The broken-hearted king saw in the tragedy that came to him in the revolt of Absalom, the harvest of his own misdeeds. Men ought to recognize, as David did, that repentance does not free them from reaping the earthly consequences of God's broken laws. He found God's forgiveness, but he saw Absalom's wrong. One has well said that without iniquity we may see in David's remorse over his wayward son "a type or human picture of the Divine Fatherhood and of His unlimited forgiveness," as we hear the broken hearted king cry out in the nearest approach to a prayer, for the dead to be found in the Bible, "O Absalom, my son, my son, would God I could die for thee!"

When the end came to the poet king David could ear the public proclamation that Solomon was his chosen successor. Great as David's son became, he never attained the heights of his father who as a shepherd, soldier, sinner, statesman, and servant of God made possible by his empire building the glory of Solomon's reign. His influence has molded the centuries of history that have intervened since his day. The human and many-sidedness of his psalms has brought a message to men of all classes and creeds in their hour of need that has filled them with courage, confidence and conquering power.

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Ward Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Springfield, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved a splendid medicine for me before my fourth child was born. With the first three I had been sick and weak, and had sick headaches twice a week. I couldn't keep enough food down to do any day good, and my work was left undone many a time. My sister-in-law told me to take the Vegetable Compound when I began to have the same old dreadful sickness and headaches and was so worn out. Since then I have only had two headaches, had a good appetite and scarcely lost a meal. I have a fine, healthy baby girl who has never had a sick day. The nicest part is that I am healthy, too. It did me a lot of good. If I should ever have another baby I'll take your medicine at once."

Hrs. BESSIE WARD, 1027 Park Avenue, Springfield, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a gentle, yet strengthening and tone up the system so that it may work very respect effectively as nature's.
